Trump aims to 'take the country back'

DONALD Trump urged the Republican party to unite behind him so he could "take the country" back from Joe Biden after decimating his rivals in the Iowa caucuses on Monday night.

The former president, 77 (above), praised all of his fellow candidates – calling them "very smart and capable people" – and paid tribute to his family as he spoke to supporters after his 30-point win in the first primary contest.

It took just half an hour for Trump's landslide victory to be called as thousands of his die-hard supporters turned up to vote in sub-zero temperatures and wind chills as low as minus 30 degrees.

But Trump quickly looked forward and said the "big night is going to be in November when we take back our country" in the general election.

Councils owe £98 BILLION

THE debt mountain at UK councils has reached staggering levels, posing a risk to local services, the Public Accounts Committee has said.

Analysis shows UK councils owe a combined £97.8bn to lenders, equivalent to £1,100 per person, as of September. Committee chairwoman Meg Hillier warned of an "extreme and long-lasting effect" if more councils go bust.

Major cuts are being planned at Thurrock, Woking and Nottingham Councils – all of which have effectively gone bust over the last two years.

Cold snap will last until weekend

BRR-ITAIN CONTINUES TO SHIVER

THE cold spell fuelled by Arctic air is set to continue until at least the weekend.

Met Office yellow warnings for snow and ice were in place for Scotland, Northern Ireland, much of northern England and north Wales throughout yesterday. Temperatures fell below freezing across the UK overnight as biting winds continued to blow in from the north.

National Rail has warned there could be disruption across the network throughout the week.

The Met Office has said temperatures so far this week are around 5C to 6C lower than usual for this time of year.

Northern Ireland and northern England saw more snow yesterday, but had rain and sleet at low levels, with heavier snowfall expected to be confined to hills.

Ice will be a further hazard across the UK, with temperatures struggling to rise far above freezing yesterday/TUES in many areas, although highs of 6C were seen in southern England and southern Wales.

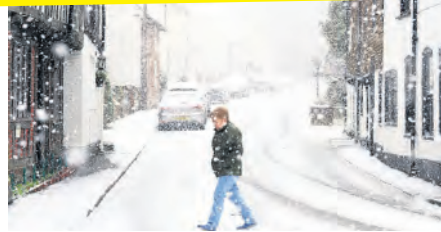

More snow hit parts of Scotland, Northern Ireland, northern England and north Wales on Tuesday night.

The UK Health Security Agency has issued an amber Cold-Health Alert for the whole of England, meaning it expects the NHS to see increased demand.

The cold spell has resulted in £25 payments for households in receipt of certain benefits being triggered where temperatures are expected to be below zero for a full week.

BBC Weather forecaster Ben Rich said: "It's worth keeping up to date as we firm up on the details. Milder weather – along with some wind and rain – is expected to sweep across the UK over the weekend bringing the cold spell to an end."

Just Stop Oil join forces with Gaza protesters

IF YOU CAN'T BEAT THEM, JOIN THEM: JSO and pro-Palestine mob hit London

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

TWO nuisances have joined forces to bring misery and mayhem to Britain's streets.

In what has been dubbed "the Axis of Arseholes" Just Stop Oil headbangers teamed up with pro-Palestine protesters as they marched through the streets of London at the weekend to call for a ceasefire in Gaza.

Over 200,000 demonstrators marched through the capital in the first major demonstration of 2024, with the Met Police confirming that it had to make six arrests.

Wearing fluorescent orange hi-vis jackets, the eco-activist extremists in the action by wielding placards and holding banners as they walked alongside pro-Palestine protesters on Saturday.

JSO shared footage of their involvement on social media, with the caption: "Supporters of Just Stop Oil have joined the March for Palestine today in London."

"Just Stop Oil stand in solidarity with the Palestinian people as the Israeli government commits genocide in Gaza."

It's thought that the Just Stop Oil mob may have been irked that the Gaza bellyachers were getting all the headlines to decide to march in an "if you can't beat them, join them" move.

The Met Police and other forces mobilised around 1,700 officers ahead of the weekend, amid fears that the escalating tension in Yemen due to the Houthi rebels blocking the Red Sea could see a rise in demonstrators storming the British capital.

The march came just days after the UK and US carried out airstrikes against Iran-backed rebels in Yemen.

Writing on social media, the police force said multiple arrests had to be made: "Two for offensive placards, one for being in possession of stickers to be used for criminal damage, and three arrested under the Terrorism Act."

Prior to the march, warnings were issued which cautioned any protester from wielding any placards deemed to be anti-Semitic.

They said that those who choose to carry such signs will have them confiscated and could also potentially be arrested.

Ageing flood defences put homes at risk

DETERIORATING flood defences are putting more than 200,000 properties at increased risk of inundation, with MPs criticising the Government for failing to adequately fund the Environment Agency.

The agency has failed to meet its target of maintaining 98% of "high consequence" flood defences – the most common type – and has had to downgrade the number of properties it aims to protect by 2027 from 336,000 to 200,000.

A lack of resources also means that new developments are being built in flood plains without the Environment Agency or Local Planning Authorities ensuring there are flood risk mitigation measures, which the Public Accounts Committee described as "unforgivable".

Nearly 2,000 homes were flooded in the latest bout of downpours in early January, with eight storms having hit the UK since September.

Pay rises stall for UK workers

WAGE growth slowed again in the UK jobs market but is still outpacing price rises, official figures show.

Pay growth, excluding bonuses, fell sharply from 7.3% to 6.6% in the three months to November, although earnings are still outrunning inflation.

But there are signs the jobs market is stalling as higher interest rates hit businesses, as the number of vacancies fell.

Roles in the retail sector have seen the biggest drop.

Between October and December, the estimated number of vacancies in the UK fell by 49,000 – the 18th month in a row that the number has fallen and the longest consecutive run of quarterly falls ever recorded.

BIANCA'S BACK!

WELCOME RETURN:
Patsy as Bianca

(...and she's got a

IT'S not a good time to be a television soap producer.

Scriptwriters who are teenage halfwits, an increasing number of episodes per week, and ratings falling quicker than Houthi drones.

But rather than doing something that may work – like making good telly again – the morons in charge of our beloved TV soaps opt for gimmicks.

Like bringing back characters from the Golden Age.

And so, actress Patsy Palmer is returning to EastEnders for a short stint as Bianca Jackson.

The 51-year-old, who has already started filming, will be back on screen in the spring.

In the episodes, she will be visited by her step-daughter Whitney and Whitney's partner Zack.

Bianca, who was last seen in 2019, will return in a "special episode focusing on Whitney and the drama she faces in Milton Keynes" where Bianca now lives.

"I'm so excited to be reprising the role of Bianca," Patsy said.

By MICHAELA REED
news@sundaysport.co.uk

"EastEnders holds such a special place in my heart, so it's always a pleasure to be back."

Chris Clenshaw, EastEnders executive producer, said Bianca "remains a firm fan favourite".

Thrilled

He added: "We know our audiences will be thrilled at her return as she is thrust into the heart of the drama with step-daughter Whitney."

Bianca, the daughter of Carol Jackson, first popped up on Albert Square in 1993.

She is best known for her relationship with Ricky Butcher (Sid Owen), and for shouting: "Rickaaaaaaay!"

War vet has 101st party at Hooters!

A RANDY war veteran celebrated his 101st birthday with a bevy of big-boobed babes!

Fun-loving Harry Perez Cerezo, who served in both World War II and the Korean War, rang in the milestone birthday at Hooters diner in El Paso, Texas, surrounded by the chain's famous busty waitresses who serenaded him before presenting him with a cake and a cap signed by staff in recognition of his military service.

"I've never seen him cry, and we saw him cry today. The tears just came rolling," Cerezo's niece Josie Ramirez said.

"He liked the atmosphere, the girls, and the customers," she added. "Everybody was coming in and buying him a drink or greeting him, and he really enjoyed all of that. He took it all in."

Harry had never even heard of Hooters until last year when Ramirez brought him there to honour his tongue-in-cheek request to see "some behind" on his 100th birthday.

BISHOP BASHED OVER POST OFFICE ROW

SUPPORTIVE: Welby and Vennells

THE Archbishop of Canterbury is facing calls to resign over links to disgraced Post Office boss Paula Vennells, who he is said to have supported for the Bishop of London role – despite the Horizon scandal.

Queen Elizabeth II's former chaplain, Rev Canon Jeremy Haselock, has called for Archbishop Justin Welby to resign after claims emerged that he had endorsed Vennells for the position.

Church sources have claimed the Archbishop was supportive of Vennells when she was shortlisted to become Bishop of London in 2017, which is the third most senior role in the Church of England.

This was despite the suggestions postmasters had been wrongly prosecuted for theft, fraud and false accounting.

Vennells, who was Chief Executive of the Post Office from 2012-19, returned her CBE last week after the nation responded with fury to the Horizon IT scandal.

But campaigners said her decision to hand the honour back with immediate effect was a token gesture and it was time she faced "real justice".

Sources told the BBC that Vennells was on the shortlist for the final three candidates for the esteemed role, with the Archbishop keen as a key supporter.

She was interviewed for the role but was not appointed. Sarah Mullally, who was formerly England's chief nursing officer before she became a priest, was given the job.

Sandi: why I threw the tea towel in SANDI Toksvig says she stepped down from hosting The Great British Bake Off as she felt her brain was "atrophying".

The 65-year-old comic and broadcaster (above) began hosting the hit baking show in 2017 alongside Noel Fielding after it moved to C4 from the BBC.

Toksvig announced her departure from the programme in 2020 and was replaced by comedian Matt Lucas, with Alison Hammond later taking over his role last year.

The Denmark-born broadcaster said: "To be honest, I left Bake Off because I stopped having fun."

"I was literally standing there watching meringues dry and thinking, 'Oh my God, my brain is atrophying'."

"After three years, I thought, 'That'll do, go and do something else!'"

"I'm in love enough with the business to think, 'OK, that's a nice pay cheque, but it doesn't work for me. I'll move on and do something else.'"

Sandi currently fronts the long-running quiz show QI, having taken over presenting duties from Stephen Fry back in 2016.

She said she has stayed with the show because she is "still enjoying it".

Fake undies rep banged up for 3yrs

A PERV who pretended to work for Ann Summers, to get women to undress on camera, has been jailed.

Ryan Eastwood, 30, hacked social media accounts to get victims' personal details – in one instance falsely claiming to be an employee with Ann Summers lingerie company to obtain sexual images – despite already being the subject of a court order barring him from the internet.

Eastwood, from Omagh, Co Tyrone, was sentenced to three years for a range of offences involving 33 victims.

He was sentenced at Dungannon Crown Court for crimes including harassment, sex offences and computer misuse.

Eastwood admitted multiple charges relating to a vast cybercrime investigation.

When first charged, the number of victims was three but this soared to 33 – the majority of whom were female, with all of them targeted online.

The offending occurred between October 2019 and June 2022.

Avengers movie star feared he was too old for sex scenes with Emma Stone...

WHO WANTS TO SEE THAT?

GETTING IT ON: Mark and Emma in latest flick

Aubrey boobs at the Emmys!

SEXY Aubrey Plaza livened up the Emmy Awards by flashing a bit of side boob.

The 39-year-old was nominated for the Best Supporting Actress in a Drama Series for her role as ice queen Harper Spiller in White Lotus. She ultimately lost out to her co-star Jennifer Coolidge.

Succession, Beef and The Bear were the big winners at the awards, which took place in Los Angeles.

Sarah Snook, Kieran Culkin and Matthew Macfadyen all took home acting prizes for Succession, while the show also won Best Drama Series overall.

Also at the swanky ceremony, Sir Elton John won his first Emmy Award, giving him EGOT status after several attempts.

That means he has joined an exclusive club of performers who have won an Emmy, Grammy, Oscar and Tony award!

ACTOR Mark Ruffalo feared he was TOO OLD to strip for sex scenes with gorgeous Emma Stone in their latest movie.

The Avengers star plays dandified Duncan Wedderburn in the X-rated flick Poor Things alongside Emma, who plays a nympho in the new movie.

The 56-year-old said: "I didn't know if I could pull this off. I've never done anything like Poor Things before."

"So, like, the sex scenes," he said of acting opposite Emma in the film. "Am I too old to be doing that kind of stuff? Does anyone want to see that?"

Poor Things, directed by Yorgos Lanthimos and written by Tony McNamara as a follow-up to The Favourite, stars Stone as Bella Baxter, a grown woman resurrected with the brain of her unborn child.

As she then matures unnaturally quickly, her discovery of womanhood includes plenty of uninhibited sex – including with co-star Wedderburn, who plays a lecherous lawyer.

The movie, based on the 1992 novel by Alasdair Gray, has become an awards season contender.

Emma, 35, earned a lead actress Critics Choice Award after her win at the January 7 Golden Globe Awards, where the film also took the statuette for musical or comedy motion picture.

Mark went on to chat politics, social media and the depiction of sex on screen.

"I feel like we're in

By TALBOT ROTHWELL

this prudish time for films," he said.

"Sexuality is so deeply connected to the psychology of a character. And it should be explored in that sense, too."

Poor Things also stars Willem Dafoe, Rami Youssef, Jerrod Carmichael and Christopher Abbott.

It earned an 18 rating for "strong and pervasive sexual content, graphic nudity, disturbing material, gore and language".

Some scenes had to be re-edited before it was screened in UKL cinemas.

"It was important for me to not make a film that was going to be prude, because it would be completely betraying the main character. So we had to be confident," director Lanthimos said in September at the movie's Venice Film Festival premiere.

"The character had to have no shame, and Emma had to have no shame about her body, nudity and engaging in those scenes, and she understood that right away," he said of Emma, who is also a producer.

Roommate's shot dead in remote row

A MAN shot and killed his roommate during an argument about a TV remote control.

Richard Bennaugh, 38 (above), was charged with manslaughter in connection to the death of Domonique Scott Hayes, 27, in Springdale, Maryland.

Prince George's County Police said: "Officers discovered the decedent inside a home suffering from gunshot wounds, and he was pronounced dead at the scene."

"The preliminary investigation revealed Bennaugh shot the decedent during a dispute".

Arrest documents state Bennaugh told cops his roommate "had come at him with knives".

Bennaugh told cops he fell asleep on the sofa and was woken up by Scott Hayes "making a lot of noise" in the kitchen.

Scott Hayes then repeatedly asked Bennaugh where the remote was, but the suspect ignored him.

Bennaugh, who had a blanket on his head, removed it and saw Scott Hayes holding two knives.

The suspect then grabbed his handgun and started shooting before running off to his room.

The suspect claims he didn't see that Scott Hayes was injured, so he assumed that none of the bullets hit him and went back to sleep.

Dildo shock for walkers

A HOLIDAYMAKER was stunned to find a giant sex toy near the Giant's Causeway.

Deborah Withersham Jones, 57, who lives in Herefordshire, was out walking along Runkerry Beach, Portballintrae, with her hubby Richard, 60, at the weekend.

The beach is less than two-and-a-half miles from the Giant's Causeway and is a conservation Area of Special Scientific Interest.

As the pair enjoyed the scenic Northern Ireland views, Deborah noticed some purple plastic in the dunes and went over for a closer inspection – and it turned out to be a purple sex toy!

Deborah said: "We were astonished... we were shocked. It is a conservation area so you wouldn't expect to find anything like that there."

"We didn't know what to do with it... we didn't want to touch it, but we didn't want anyone else to discover it."

"In the end, we had to leave it, as we had nothing appropriate to move it with."

SNOOTY ADVERT BOSSES BAN SIDEBOOB

PROUD OF HER PHYSICALITY:
FKA Twigs in banned advert

STUNNING singer FKA Twigs has blasted advert prudes who BANNED an ad she appears in.

The advertisement featuring the British singer was banned by snoots at the UK's Advertising Standards Authority, on the grounds that it presented her as "a stereotypical sexual object".

The poster featured the star with a shirt draped across her body, showing a lovely bit of underboob and the side of her shapely bum, along with the caption: "Calvins or nothing."

Just TWO bellyachers complained about the image, arguing that it inappropriately sexualised her.

And prodnoses at the ASA agreed with the comment, saying in a statement: "The ad used nudity and centred on FKA Twigs's physical features rather than the clothing, to the extent that it presented her as a stereotypical sexual object", and said that the 'image's composition placed viewers' focus on the model's body rather than on the clothing being advertised".

The ASA also described the advert as "irresponsible and likely to cause serious offence".

Their ruling states that the ad, which first appeared in April 2023, "must not appear again in the form complained of".

Calvin Klein has defended the FKA Twigs advert, saying: "The image was not vulgar and was of a confident and empowered woman who had chosen to identify with the Calvin Klein brand, and the ad contained a progressive and enlightened message."

They argued the pose adopted by the singer was "natural and neutral".

And the star herself has hit back in an Instagram post, saying: "I do not see the 'stereotypical sexual object' that they have labelled me."

"I see a beautiful strong woman of colour whose incredible body has overcome more pain than you can imagine. I am proud of my physicality and will not have my narrative changed."

'Bear' chased nude burglar

COPS say a nude man who smoked drugs and broke into a home claimed he was being chased by a bear.

Officers responded to a report of a naked male, covered in blood, running down a road in Hallstead, Pennsylvania.

Prior to cops' arrival, the suspect reportedly broke into an occupied apartment and was detained by the resident until police turned up.

The suspect was identified as Edward Swan, 20, of New Milford, who told officers that he "smoked drugs" and "was being chased by a bear that was attempting to eat him".

A police source said: "As we always say, kids, don't do drugs or you may be chased naked by bears. Hell, we had a laugh at this down at the station house, yes siree!"

Vegan beef over Zuck's beer cattle

FACEBOOK boss Mark Zuckerberg is facing a backlash over his plan to raise beef cattle on BEER and nuts.

The social media billionaire, 39 (above), posted on Instagram that he and his family will be raising wagyu and angus cows on their Ko'olau Ranch in Kauai, Hawaii.

In his new venture to "create some of the highest quality beef in the world," Zuckerberg said his cattle will be raised on feed made from macadamia nuts, which are grown on his property, and beer.

"We want the whole process to be local and vertically integrated," Zuckerberg, who is worth £102bn, said, alongside a photo of him enjoying a medium rare steak.

"We're still early in the journey and it's fun improving on it every season. Of all my projects, this is the most delicious."

The father-of-three also said the project is family-orientated and that his daughters helped "plant the mac trees and take care of our different animals".

However, Shalin Gala, who works for militant bunny huggers PETA, said: "Feeding cattle beer, and then killing them. Mark, the Dark Ages called and it wants you back."

Air agency to recruit more loons

AMERICA'S aviation watchdog wants to recruit more NUTTERS and DWARFS.

The Federal Aviation Administration is actively recruiting workers who suffer "severe intellectual" disabilities, psychiatric problems and other mental and physical conditions under a new diversity and inclusion hiring initiative.

The agency's website says: "Targeted disabilities are those disabilities that the Federal government, as a matter of policy, has identified for special emphasis in recruitment and hiring. They include hearing, vision, missing extremities, partial paralysis, complete paralysis, epilepsy, severe intellectual disability, psychiatric disability and dwarfism."

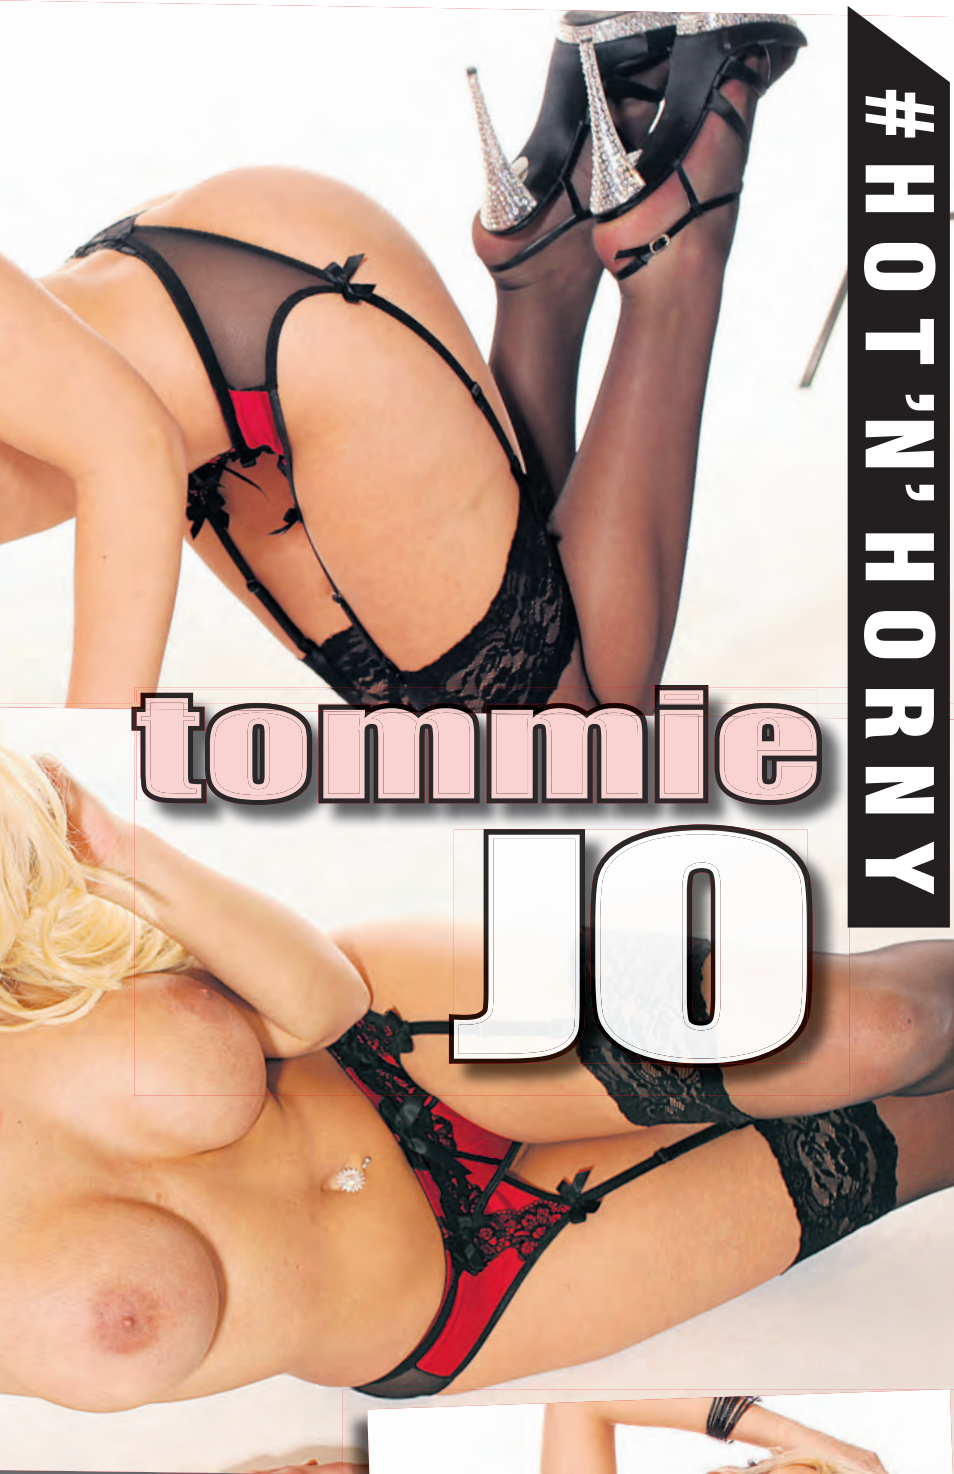

The initiative is part of the FAA's "Diversity and Inclusion" hiring plan, which claims "diversity is integral to achieving FAA's mission of ensuring safe and efficient travel across our nation".

The FAA is a government agency which employs around 45,000 people.

HOOKER KILLED HER MUM ...LIVE ON FACEBOOK

VICTIM: Olivia

By KIT JACKSON

news@sundaysport.co.uk

COPS nicked a blood-soaked hooker, who was still holding the knife she used to murder her mum, after she streamed the killing on Facebook Live.

Hours before the brutal murder, Tonantzyn Oris Beltran, 28, had gone with her mum to a police station in Santa Rosa, California, to retrieve her car after it was impounded following an earlier chase, cops said.

She was allowed to leave, even though an officer said she was too mentally unstable to drive.

Officers were called later after Beltran's 55-year-old mum, Olivia Lucia Beltran Pacheco, was filmed being attacked and stabbed to death at home, police said.

"Initial calls of the incident came from both witnesses at the scene and those who viewed the Facebook Live video," cops said in a statement.

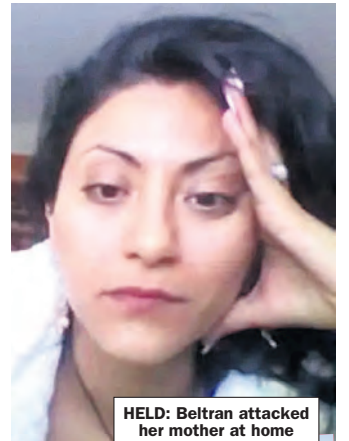

Police found the daughter "on a balcony, holding a knife in her hand, standing next to a stabbed female victim, and her clothes soaked in blood," cops said.

After she failed to respond to commands, another team of officers broke through the front door of the home and collared the knife-wielding daughter.

Her mother suffered "numerous stab wounds" and was rushed to a local hospital, where surgeons were unable to "overcome the extensive life-threatening injuries".

The mum – a well-known community activist who helped migrants – died about 90 minutes later.

Police confirmed they "learned that

HELD: Beltran attacked her mother at home

this incident had been broadcast by Beltran via Facebook Live."

"Detectives worked with Meta and had the video taken down," cops said.

Beltran was arrested on one count of murder and was being held without bail at the Marin County jail, where online inmate records have listed her occupation as "escort".

A motive for the crime is still under investigation.

Boffins invite alien visitors

A CITY has drummed up a unique way to boost tourism, by blasting into space an invitation asking aliens to visit them.

Scientists in Lexington, Kentucky, along a team from tourist agency VisitLex, sent a coded infrared laser message to TRAPPIST-1, a star with at least seven exoplanets believed to be potentially hospitable to life.

At about 235 trillion miles from Earth, the message won't reach its destination for almost 39 years, but scientists see that duration as working in their favour.

Also included in the message is the molecular structure for the elements of Lexington's favourite export – bourbon whiskey – and of dopamine.

Jay, 37 (below), who describes himself as a proud South African-born, Australian-raised gay Jewish man, said he was left reeling by the news.

He first donated sperm in September last year and it was immediately frozen for three months until more testing was done.

After the October 7 unprovoked attack by Hamas, Lazarus shared Instagram posts supporting Israel.

The lesbians later texted him to say they didn't feel comfortable continuing to use his sperm to conceive because they were "deeply affected" by the "war between Israel and Gaza".

forgive Holly Willoughby for never showing her face in public again...

Especially after that whole alleged kidnap and murder plot.

But fame is a powerful drug and last weekend the 42-year-old was back hosting Dancing on Ice with Stephen Mulhern.

Tedious

The show, which Holly used to present with Phil, involves minor and former celebrities skating.

Yes, it's "Strictly on ice" in all but name.

Tired and tedious as the format is, the show rakes in a sufficient number of viewers for the folk who run ITV to keep it going.

To try and liven things up a bit, here are some of the previous contestants with their busters out...

'I want a man to boss me about in the bedroom'

#MY SEX FANTASY

...WITH JESSIE VOLT,
32B, FROM PARIS,
FRANCE

I HAVE a thing for really strong men who can throw me around the bedroom. I love to be dominated.

I go weak at the knees when I meet a really confident bloke who I know is going to be very comfortable with bossing me about in the bedroom.

These days, I find men can feel a little nervous taking on a dominant role. But I very much like to be submissive – I fully consent! Tie me up, spank me, order me to get down on my knees and serve you! I love it!

I love to get dressed up in a skin tight latex bodysuit with fishnets and be a sex slave.

I go weak at the knees. It makes my fanny go all of a flutter... literally!

Now and again I like to mix it up and take the lead but I feel the most turned on when the guy does.

I'm single at the moment so if anyone fits the bill, send in your application!

Builder shot nail straight into his brain

A BUILDER survived, and kept his sight, after an inch-and-a-half nail shot through his eye and became lodged in his brain when a nail gun malfunctioned.

Doctors in Malaysia were able to safely remove the nail and the 30-year-old man regained his eyesight after the horrific on-the-job accident.

The unnamed man, a foreign worker, was using an air-pressured nail gun without wearing protective goggles. The equipment jammed, and when he peeked down into the gun barrel to inspect it, he accidentally fired a nail into his left eye.

Bleeding

Besides complaining of obvious pain and suffering some bleeding and a headache, he had no other issues when he arrived at hospital and was cooperative, doctors said.

However, the patient was unable to see out of the eye at the time.

Doctors immediately gave him a tetanus jab, antibiotics through a drip and anti-seizure medication.

X-ray images (above) show the nail stuck deep into the frontal lobe of the man's brain and while bleeding had spread to other parts of his brain the nail somehow missed vital arteries and nerves, and he escaped any long-term damage.

Killer snake slithered into baby clothes

A SNAKE hunter found the second-most venomous snake in the world in a toddler's underwear drawer.

Mark Pelley, based in Melbourne, Australia, was asked to remove a five-foot Eastern brown snake from the bedroom of a three-year-old.

"Mum went to get some clothes for her son and found a large five-foot brown snake instead," Mark wrote of the ordeal on Facebook.

"We figured out what happened - she carried in folded washing the previous day and as she was taking clothes from the clothes line, the brown snake crawled into it."

He added: "They weigh next to nothing and seriously, this can happen to anyone."

"I've seen people carry brown snakes in their handbag or shopping bags. One day this could happen to you."

TEACHER'S LESBIAN SEX WITH PUPIL, 15

FACING THE CHOP: Brandyn Hargrove

A FORMER Teacher of the Year award winner has been charged with having a relationship with a teen female student for two years.

Brandyn Hargrove, 43, was arrested on six counts of sexual assault of a child, four of indecency with a child by contact and two of indecency with a child by exposure.

By KIT JACKSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Authorities said the victim, who is now in her 30s, went to the police in September last year about the incident, which began in 2007 when she was 15.

Hargrove posted bail after her arrest and was released from Brazoria County Jail in Texas.

Brazoswood High School officials took steps to terminate her employment during a special board meeting after the allegations.

Hargrove allegedly had a relationship with the former student in 2007 when she was 27.

Clute Police Department Chief James Fitch said the victim came forward to authorities and said the incidents took place off-campus for two years.

The Brazosport Independent School District put Hargrove on leave in September once they found out about the investigation.

Officials took action to propose terminating her employment during a specially-called board meeting earlier this month.

She will remain on paid administrative leave until action is taken to fire her by the board, with a vote scheduled for next week.

A statement from the district read: "BISD remains dedicated to upholding the highest standards of professionalism and integrity among our staff, and we take the safety and well-being of our students very seriously."

"We understand that this news may raise concerns. If any parent, student, or former student has concerns or questions, please do not hesitate to contact Brazoswood High School Principal Rita Pintavalle or Brazosport ISD Police Chief Wade Nichols."

Kourtney K rapped over minge pills

DOCTORS have accused reality TV star Kourtney Kardashian of promoting "total pseudoscience" by claiming supplements made from "good" bacteria, vitamin C, and pineapple extract can "promote vaginal health" and help impact genital odour.

The 44-year-old posted on her Instagram story promoting Lemme Purr, a vaginal health capsule from her wellness brand Lemme.

"This is the first vaginal health capsule that uses four clinically-studied probiotic strains that support pH balance, vaginal health, and urinary tract health," she said in the social media post.

However, experts said there is no benefit to the pills - which cost £47 for 60 capsules - and that they are "predatory" and "cash in" on women's insecurities around their vagina and discharge.

Dr Mickey Karam, a urogynaecologist at Visthetic Surgery Institute and Med Spa in Beverly Hills, said: "It's total pseudoscience - it's ridiculous. There's no good science behind any of this and I think it's not anything that someone should consider."

Lactobacillus Acidophilus (as L-14™)
Clinically studied to support vaginal pH and vaginal balance, promote healthy vaginal flora, and support healthy vaginal colonization.

Pineapple Extract
Lemme Purr is formulated with real, probiotic Pineapple to soothe the itch!

Vitamin C
A powerful antioxidant and essential vitamin that is an essential for immune system health, skin health and overall health and well-being.

Lactobacillus Rhamnosus (as HN001™)
Clinically studied to support vaginal health, promote a healthy vaginal environment, and support healthy vaginal colonization.

Bacillus Coagulans (as SN2960™)
Clinically studied to support healthy vaginal odor and vaginal health. SN2960 is also studied to soothe the harsh stomachs experienced and make it to the gut where it's most effective.

Lactobacillus Reuteri (as R1™)

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Ronnie O'Sullivan?

I wonder what happened to him!

COME A LONG WAY: Snooker ace Ronnie

LONG before we had Netflix and Prime Video on our huge tellies, there was another broadcasting outlet that would go on to shuffle the audience pack forever.

But as it was the early 1990s, and the nation was still getting over having been introduced to Channel 4 a decade earlier, nearly everybody agreed they would never watch it.

Because Sky TV was owned by media mogul Rupert Murdoch, it was considered to be at its very best an extension of the Devil his very self's eternal reign of malignancy.

A battle then broke out between Sky and an obscure rival whose unique selling point was "squarials" instead of satellite dishes, even though they both did the same thing.

The other thing they both did, of course, was broadcast utter shite.

Respected

There was an ex-EastEnders star fronting a shopping channel show alongside a fellow former thespian clearly content to admit that no longer being respected was just fine.

And they launched something called Sky News, which was watched by approximately seven people, all of whom worked in the Sky News gallery about 10 feet away from the presenter.

In such a poor state – and at this stage, no Premier League football to draw in viewers – they desperately employed all kinds of useless knobs.

One of which was me. And that was how I found myself rumbling along the M55 into Blackpool in the passenger seat of a Renault Espace converted people carrier kitted out with complicated TV tech stuff I'll never understand.

The destination was one of Blackpool's many heroically terrible seafront hotels, and the subject matter was a teenager I'd never heard of playing a "sport" I didn't consider a sport.

Now, in this job – and it's a zillion times worse now than it was back then, but even so – you're constantly getting badgered by agents and PR gimps and "spokespersons".

Nagging in your ear not to ask this, or that, or the other.

Me? I was 21, with big ears, specs, hadn't even started shaving properly yet, but had to make a news film for the tellybox.

I didn't have a clue. "Whatever you do," barked Lady Jemima Westminster Salamander de Boise of Green Lentil Puree PR, or something like that, "don't mention his dad."

Whose dad? All I was there for in this godforsaken windswept shrine to everything I would normally recoil from was to ask Denis, the bloke behind the camera, to point his machine at this kid's face and record whatever it was he said.

Bugged

I can't even remember what on earth he talked about because I wasn't remotely interested, couldn't stand the subject matter, and why was I interviewing a sodding kid in the first place?

Once the pointless interview was over, the 16-year-old bugged off to get a Happy Meal or whatever and Denis and I went back to our mobile editing suite parked up on the promenade.

"Ronnie O'Sullivan?" I said, after we'd finished our fish and chips and fired up our Silk Cuts.

"He'll never catch on."

Triple murder suspect's nude court showing

A HOLLYWOOD heir charged with the brutal killing of his wife and her parents is being forced to come to court half naked.

Sam Haskell IV, whose father is William Morris Agency executive vice president Samuel Haskell III, was nude to the waist while pleading not guilty in the case during a court proceeding in LA.

Haskell, 35 (above), had to be in the state of undress because authorities believe he is at risk of self-harm, according to his lawyer Joe Weimortz – who said the sheriff's department insisted he wear an anti-self-harm vest.

Dehumanising

Mr Weimortz claims Haskell cannot wear the anti-self harm vest because of a medical condition and that the sheriff's office "will not allow him to appear with a shirt, gown or blanket".

"This situation is dehumanising and creates an inaccurate image of Mr Haskell," the lawyer added.

Haskell is suspected of chopping up his wife, Mei, 37, and her folks, Goashan Li, 72, and Yanxiang Wang, 64, and was allegedly seen on CCTV hurling a torso into a dumpster.

Boffins drill volcano for clean energy

SCIENTISTS in Iceland have come up with an ambitious plan to drill into a volcano's magma chamber to source an abundant amount of clean, super-hot geothermal energy.

The project, which would be a scientific first if successful, would see boreholes drilled about 1.3 miles down through the Earth's crust at a volcano known as Krafla, located in the northeast of Iceland.

With more than 200 volcanoes, Iceland is already a leader in geothermal energy – where heat or hot water vapour is extracted and separated into liquid water and steam.

The steam is then run through turbines that produce electricity to power and heat its many greenhouses, and used for its high levels of local food production, as well as for heating.

If the plan works, it will unleash limitless energy for the tiny nation.

If it fails, Godzilla will be freed from the bowels of the Earth, or something.

By PENNY LEWIS

news@sundaysport.co.uk

And it's all thanks to a kinky outfit called Skirt Club.

Skirt Club launched in London 10 years ago.

It has since expanded to Los Angeles, New York, Miami, Berlin, Paris, and Sydney.

Skirt Club caters to bisexual or bicurious women.

Men are strictly BANNED from events where sexually-liberated ladies suck each other's intimate parts.

Adventure

The club is mainly geared towards women who may be dating men, but use the events as a way to enjoy one another's company – as the narrator of one promo video puts it: "When your man is not enough, seek adventure outside."

At the twice-monthly parties, women enjoy free-flowing champagne or mixed drinks, sultry burlesque performances, risqué games, and even lectures on topics such as kissing and female orgasms.

And after that, the fanny-licking begins in earnest.

"I'd been to a couple of nice play parties in London and the same thing kept happening," Skirt Club founder, Genevieve LeJeune, said.

"A man would grab me by the arm or slap my bottom, and there was this expectation that as I was there, I was going to have sex with him."

"If there is constantly some kind of predator trying to push you into a threesome or sex with him, then you are not going to have fun, as you are constantly feeling threatened."

Skirt Club also offers an online community that's free to join, where members use pseudonyms to remain anonymous.

Though some may choose to meet outside official events, many simply prefer to keep their sexuality a secret.

"It's like having a second life," LeJeune added.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Kelly,

I'm really into my cycling and ride around 10 miles into work and back every day.

As well as helping me lose about three stone, all that pumping on the saddle seems to have made my member grow quite substantially.

I couldn't resist "accidentally" walking into the office in my Lycra cycling shorts, just to see how the ladies would react to my bulge.

Most of them pretended to ignore me, but a couple of them – saucy mares – made comments about "packed lunch" and stuff like that.

In fact, one of them went so far as to give me a bit of a "tweak" by the photocopier, which led to us finding ourselves in the ladies loo.

She grabbed me with both hands, used her lips on me and then guided me in as we had a "quickie".

Trouble is, the other cheeky one got the hump that she didn't get to grips with my sizeable organ and grassed us up. Now I face the sack.

What shall I do?

MK, Norfolk

Kelly says...

GET on yer bike and look for a new job.

Dear Kelly,

I'm a 24-year-old joiner and I nearly took the tip of my finger off in a taxi door the other night while I was pissed.

It was gushing with blood, so I went straight off to hospital and had to pretend I wasn't in absolute agony when I was seen by a gorgeous female nurse.

But as she put ointment on my wound it really hurt and I winced. To my surprise she said she'd make the pain go away – and started to lick my fingers!

Obviously, I got a hard-on, which I realised she'd noticed when she discreetly pulled the curtains shut around us and began to rub the front of my jeans.

I soon forgot about my injury as she pulled out my rock-hard cock and knelt in front of me. She gave me an expert blowjob and even swallowed the lot.

Should I injure another digit, so I can go and see her again?

FK, Preston

Kelly says...

I RECKON she'd give you the finger if you did!

Swap sex backfired as my girl swapped me for a pal

Dear Kelly,

MY girlfriend walked out on me a few weeks ago and it left me devastated – we'd been together for five years.

She told me that she'd been seeing somebody else and, if that wasn't bad enough, she said the other guy is my mate.

It started when I introduced her to swapping partners. Our sex life was good, but I need a bit of variety and I was bored with just shagging her four or five times a week.

I found a contact site on the net and replied to one of the ads.

Once I'd sorted out a nice couple to have some adult fun with, I told my girlfriend.

At first she went berserk and called me all kinds of names. But I persisted and she agreed to give it a go.

The pair we met up with were a good-looking blonde and a tall, dark-haired man.

As the night wore on, my girl got into the mood by stroking the guy's knob while his bird sucked on mine.

The women then had lesbo sex as we watched and wanked.

Then my bird rolled over and grabbed hold of the fella and pulled him on top.

He gave her a good seeing to as I screwed his wife.

But when my girlfriend left me, she said it was my fault as she'd never have thought about shagging someone else but for our swapping session.

What should I do?

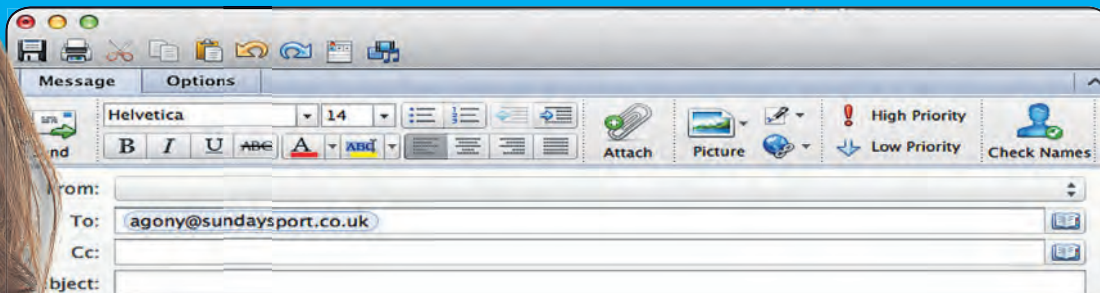

PW, Northumberland

Kelly says...

FIND another girlfriend and don't swap again in future... you IDIOT!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY MCGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Selfish mates use me as sex object

Dear Kelly,

I'M a 21-year-old single girl and I'm lucky enough to have a wide circle of friends.

Even though most of them are fellas, we go out clubbing every weekend and have a great time.

There are 10 of us – three girls and seven lads – and I have to admit we often get pretty blitzed and end up doing some wild things together.

But just lately, I feel that some of my male mates are simply using me for sex.

Pounding

The thing is, I've shagged all of them over the years but never got romantically involved with any of them.

However, over the last couple of months they've stopped asking me out with them at weekends.

Instead, they've been calling at my house in midweek and we end up having sex.

One night a pal turned up and asked point-blank for a fk.

Rather than disappoint him, I obligingly dropped my knickers and bent over the sofa.

He wasted no time ramming his seven-incher into me from behind and began pounding away.

It was pretty good and I orgasmed twice before he climaxed. But once he'd finished, he left.

The next night another of the fellas called and we ended up having oral with each other.

But again, he shot off to the pub as soon as he'd come.

The following week I was feeling really fed up because I hadn't been out when two of the guys called and we all ended up naked on my bed.

I sucked one of them off while his chum gave me a good licking and then they swapped places.

The pair of them then proceeded to shag me like there was no tomorrow.

It went on for ages, each of them taking turns to fill my pussy.

I had orgasm after orgasm until I had to beg them to stop because I couldn't take it any more.

Even then they weren't finished. They wanked themselves furiously over the top of me before squirting their spunk all over my face.

I thought I was at least going to get some reward for my efforts when one bloke suggested going to the pub for a drink.

But when I said I would love to, they said it was a "lads' night" and left.

I feel really pissed off about the way they are treating me.

What shall I do?

BD, Somerset

Kelly says...

YOU'RE spot on when you say they are using you. Next time they call, tell them to fk off!

My cheating shame with busty blonde

Dear Kelly,

I WAS invited to a 25th wedding anniversary party. My missus was away visiting a relative, so I went alone to a hotel where I'd booked in for the night.

At the anniversary dinner, I was seated next to a blonde who was about 45 with a great figure – shown off to great effect by her low-cut party dress.

I spent most of the night gazing down her cleavage and, when she noticed, I felt her hand slip on to my thigh and start rubbing.

She could tell I was "up" for it, and for the first time in 24 years of marriage I cheated on my wife.

In my room she performed an erotic strip to reveal a tanned and well-toned body.

Lapped

She lay back on the bed and spread her legs, revealing a moist pussy.

Without a thought for my wife, I went down on her luscious fanny and lapped at it until she was panting for a poke.

I couldn't restrain myself as I shafted her long and hard.

But in the cold light of day I was shocked at the way I behaved and I'm now terrified that word might get back to my missus.

What can I do?

NC, Dorset

Kelly says...

IF it was a one-off, just concentrate on reaching your own 25th anniversary

Dear Kelly,

I'M a bubbly, 18-year-old blonde and three months ago I started a job with an insurance company.

I thought I'd hit the jackpot when my head of department – a handsome bloke in his early 30s – asked me out for a drink.

We got on really well and I could tell he was bursting to shag me, but he said he was married and couldn't take me home to his place.

I was so horny that I suggested we went to the office.

We'd worked ourselves up into a sexual frenzy and when he got me in his office he didn't mess around.

He bent me over the desk, slid down my knickers from behind and roughly inserted his todger.

I felt like I was being treated like a whore, but I wasn't going to complain as I was thinking of my promotion prospects.

How wrong I was to build up my hopes!

The next day he passed me in the corridor without a second glance and he hasn't spoken to me since.

What should I do?

HK, Weymouth

Kelly says...

WORK hard instead.

FIERY redhead Camilla Quance knows exactly what she wants... And occasionally that includes hot PUSSY! The 32G stunna once had a full-on relationship with mega-filthy Brit porn babe Lolly Badcock. But Camilla, originally from Penzance, Cornwall, had no trouble keeping up with sex-mad Lolly. She said: "I've done the works when it comes to sex. Most of my kinky desires I've already acted out. "There's not much left for me to try, to be perfectly honest. "I guess you could say I'm a nymphomaniac of sorts!"

And he wants to show them what they're missing by taking a photo of her onto site.

CRITIC: O'Sullivan

Rocket: I was better player in my teens

SNOOKER

RONNIE O'Sullivan insists he was a better player in his teens, despite becoming the oldest winner of the Masters at the age of 48.

O'Sullivan recovered from 6-3 down to beat Ali Carter 10-7 in the final at Alexandra Palace and claim a record-extending eighth Masters crown.

The world number one, who also won the UK Championship in December, has now won 23 Triple Crown titles, five more than Stephen Hendry, and can complete a clean sweep of the game's biggest events with an eighth World Championship title at the Crucible.

However, O'Sullivan was typically self-deprecating when asked if there was any part of his game which was better now than when he won his first Masters title in 1995 at the age of 19.

"I thought when I was 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 I was even better than I was now to be honest with you," O'Sullivan said after lifting the Paul Hunter Trophy.

Tight

"Technically I felt I was much better, more consistency."

"These days I'm a bit in and out and I search for it when I am on the table."

"It's got better since 2001 and I've had to work on the technical side just to keep things as tight as I can during matches."

"I have some good spells, some good months, good years sometimes."

"But then I have some awful months and awful years and I just accept that that's how it is and just try and play my way through it and hopefully it comes good at some point."

"It's quite a struggle for me the game at the moment, confidence wise."

O'Sullivan won £250,000 for each of his UK Championship and Masters victories and can take his earnings from Triple Crown events this season to £1million by claiming the £500,000 first prize on offer in the World Championship.

DRAGONS BURNED BY CROCKS

Tough call for Gatland with host of star men still on the sidelines

INJURIES and a new captain look set to take centre stage when Wales boss Warren Gatland names his Guinness Six Nations squad.

Flanker Jac Morgan, who led Wales impressively during the World Cup in France, could miss the whole tournament due to a knee injury.

His World Cup co-captain Dewi Lake, meanwhile, went off injured during Ospreys' Challenge Cup victory over Perpignan, adding to a casualty count that includes Taulupe Faletau, Christ Tshiunza, Taine Plumtree and Nicky Smith.

Captaincy contenders would include Lake, Adam Beard, flanker Tommy Reffell and Beard's fellow lock Dafydd Jenkins, who has led Exeter impressively on domestic and European fronts this season.

The more pressing issue is injuries, though, with number eight Faletau not having played since breaking his arm during the World Cup and Exeter forward Tshiunza recently suffering a setback during his recovery from a broken foot.

By PAUL THOMAS

Wales kick off their Six Nations campaign against Scotland on February 3, and latest estimates on Faletau are that he could return to action some time next month.

Prop Smith and hooker Elliot Dee have also had injury issues, while Bristol fly-half Callum Sheedy, who has been tipped for a squad recall, is currently sidelined due to a knee problem.

Four players who were part of Gatland's World Cup squad will not be involved, with Dan Biggar and Leigh Halfpenny having retired from Test rugby, Liam Williams now being based in Japan and Gareth Anscombe injured.

And centre Johnny Williams is facing a ban after he was sent off during the Scarlets' Challenge Cup defeat against Clermont Auvergne.

Elsewhere, uncapped Cardiff trio Cam Winnett, Liam Belcher and Mackenzie Martin have their admirers, with selection speculation also having focused on back-row pair Rhys Ruddock and Cameron Hanekom.

Ruddock, son of former Wales head coach Mike Ruddock, won 27 caps for Ireland, but he has not represented the boys in green since mid-February 2021.

The 33-year-old, who has a Welsh-born father and grandparents, would qualify for Wales after their opening Six Nations games against Scotland and England.

World Rugby rules allow a player to switch countries as long as a minimum three years have elapsed since their last international appearance, and they are suitably qualified to represent any new nation.

Uncapped South African Hanekom, who is 12 years Ruddock's junior, has a Welsh grandparent.

Talent

He has produced outstanding form for the Pretoria-based Bulls in the Investec Champions Cup and United Rugby Championship.

Asked about any link with Wales over the weekend, Bulls head coach Jake White said: "I've spoken to him about it. I think his grandmother is Welsh."

"He has been playing really well. He is a talent."

"At this point, I would think it is highly unlikely that he has had any contact (with Wales) because I think he would have told me."

THE WORLD OF RUGBY UNION

BIG MISS: Jac Morgan looks set to miss the Six Nations for Wales

Meanwhile, in club rugby Saracens suffered a record European defeat as Bordeaux fought back to reach the last 16 of the Investec Champions Cup following a ruthless display in a 55-15 victory.

An electric start saw the hosts score four tries in the first-half to secure the bonus point as Damian Penaud and Louis Bielle-Biarrey scored two tries each in a dominant display from Bordeaux, who remain unbeaten in Pool 1.

Owen Farrell put the first points on the board with a penalty kick in the fourth minute, but Bordeaux instantly responded when Bielle-Biarrey sprinted on the wing to cross four minutes later and Matthieu Jalibert added the extras.

They earned their second converted try of the game after 12 minutes when a great piece of pressure saw Romain Buros charge through a gap in the Saracens' defence and touch down to the right of the goalpost before Maxime Lamothe added a third just nine minutes later from the maul.

Conversion

Bordeaux secured the bonus point after 35 minutes when Jalibert kicked off a brilliant team move, powering through the midfield as they caught Saracens on the break and France winger Penaud finished in the corner.

The hosts picked up where they left off just four minutes into the second half through Nicolas Depoortere and a great move saw Jalibert come in from the inside to touch down between the posts with Maxime Lucu converting.

Penaud earned his second of the game just before the hour, with Lucu adding the extras.

Saracens scored their first try of the match five minutes later through Nick Tompkins – with Farrell converting – before adding a second just two minutes later when Theo Dan burst down the left flank to cross.

However, Bordeaux reached 50 points with two minutes to go when Farrell's kick was charged down and Pablo Uberti scored from the resulting move before Bielle-Biarrey capped off a dominant performance with the hosts' ninth try of the evening.

The heavy loss means Saracens dropped below Bristol to fifth in the table with one round of games to go.

BIG CALL: Gatland

READY: Duckett

Ben happy with India warm-ups

CRICKET

OPENER Ben Duckett insists England will be well prepared for their Test series in India, despite criticism of their last-minute arrival.

Ben Stokes' squad are in Abu Dhabi on a training camp and are planning to transfer to Hyderabad just three days before the first Test begins on January 25.

Former England bowler Steve Harmison believes that is simply not enough acclimatisation time in Indian conditions and paves the way for a 5-0 defeat.

With the series already spanning seven weeks and no guarantees over the local players they would come up against, Duckett has no qualms about the decision.

"There's training every day and we're hitting thousands of balls, with the bowlers bowling to us," he said.

"There probably is loads of spinners in India but none of them are Jadeja, Axar Patel and Ashwin. You might face a 15-year-old off-spinner in the nets but that's not going to equip you for the Test.

"We've got quite a big squad with us and there will be hours of training every day. In India you are pretty hotel-bound, the luxury of being in Abu Dhabi is you can get out and about for an extra 10 days.

"India can be a really tough place to tour, everyone knows that. The mental side of the game is just as important and I don't think there's too many complaints from that squad who are having 10 days in Abu Dhabi rather than 10 days stuck in a hotel."

England have vowed not to curb the attacking instincts that have defined the so-called 'Bazball' era, promising to go on the attack even if faced with extreme turning conditions.

That is exactly what they experienced on their previous Test tour in

SKIPPER: Ben Stokes

2021, a 3-1 defeat, and Duckett feels his role at the top of the innings is more crucial than ever in setting the right tone.

"Me and Zak (Crawley) at the top of the order have to realise that in the first couple of balls as we kind of judge that wicket," he said.

"If we feel like it's going to be a terrible pitch, sometimes getting 60 off 50 balls or whatever it may be is going to be a valuable knock for the team. It's going to be for me and Zak to give that feedback as soon as possible, if we get 180-200, let's do that as soon as possible.

"I know under Baz and Stokes we will have full licence to go and do whatever we want."

India have named four spinners in their squad for the first two Tests of their forthcoming series against England, but experienced seamer Mohammed Shami is not yet fit to take part.

Axar Patel and Kuldeep Yadav did not travel to South Africa for the recent Test series against the Proteas but come back into contention on home pitches that are expected to take lavish turn.

Rohit Sharma continues to lead the side, assisted by vice-captain Jasprit Bumrah.

India squad for first two Tests against England: R Sharma (c), S Gill, Y Jaiswal, V Kohli, S Iyer, KL Rahul, KS Bharat, D Patel, R Ashwin, R Jadeja, A Patel, K Yadav, M Siraj, M Kumar, J Bumrah, A Khan.

ALL THE TOP TIPS FOR TODAY'S RACING

DIVA CAN PUT ON A BIG SHOW

By MIKE FRANCIS

DAVID'S DIVA broke her duck last time out and can follow up in the Unibet Zero% Mission Fillies' Handicap at Kempton.

The daughter of Master Carpenter cost only 800 guineas as a yearling back in 2021 but she showed a modicum of promise when fifth on her initial start and has hardly run a bad race since.

After finishing third on her second outing, Rod Millman gave her a near 300-day break before returning to action in November, with two decent efforts eventually leading to a maiden victory at Southwell at the end of last month.

Appeal

While it was just a modest race, David's Diva looked fair value for the winning margin of a length and quarter after drifting a bit in the finish and Gina Mangan's 3lb claim will again be a help in the face of a 5lb rise.

Aidan Andabettin makes some appeal in the Unibet Supports Safe Gambling Maiden Stakes.

He lined up in what appears to have been a warm Chelmsford novice on his racecourse introduction, beaten just under five lengths in fourth by the winner, Mrs Morrell. The second has subsequently won while the third was narrowly denied last week, giving the form a solid look.

No News can chalk up his hat-trick in the Unibet More Boosts In More Races Handicap.

John Jenkins' runner has hit a purple patch of late, winning at Kempton in mid-December before following up with a hard-fought neck victory back at that track earlier in the month.

He is now 2lb higher but that might not anchor this in-form contender.

Himawari took a leap forward from her first start and another jump is anticipated in the BetUK It's Where The UK Bets Restricted Maiden Stakes at Newcastle. Ninth on debut, Marco Botti's runner was beaten just over two lengths into second over the same six furlongs she faces here when running late last month.

A similar effort may well be good enough.

Luna Effect can make it 10th time lucky in the Boost Your Acca-Fenwa With BetUK Handicap.

A 120,000 guineas buy as a yearling, he struggled to make his mark in three juvenile starts or an initial three-year-old, but he showed more promise in the autumn when narrowly beaten at Yarmouth before moving to the all-weather.

Placed on his two most recent outings, he seems to be on a competitive mark with this extended 12-furlong trip his ideal kind of distance.

Southofthorborder can make amends for defeat last time by taking the Welcomes Sky Sports Racing Novices' Hurdle at Newbury.

A cosy winner at Sandown in November, Southofthorborder was then tried in Grade Two company back at the Esher track last month.

Heavy ground took its toll that day and Nicky Henderson's runner was already out of the reckoning when unshipping his rider at the penultimate flight.

Lesser company and better conditions should see him back on the winning trail.

Breaking Cover can make an immediate impact over fences in the Download The At The Races App Handicap Chase at Southwell.

Second in one of two point-to-point runs, his recent hurdles form has been fair but chasing always appeared to be his likely strength.

BOBB THE LATEST TO SCORE FIRST GOAL IN BIG MATCH

NEW STAR:
Bobb is trusted
by Guardiola

OSCAR Bobb's brilliant finish clinched Manc City a crucial win at Newcastle on Saturday and was the 20-year-old's first Premier League goal.

Here, Midweek Sport takes a look at 10 other memorable first Premier League goals.

ALAN SHEARER
(BLACKBURN) - 1992

Shearer is the Premier League's all-time leading scorer with 260 goals and his first, scored on the opening weekend of the new era, was a typical block-buster, lashed into the top corner from the edge of the penalty area in Blackburn's 3-3 draw at Crystal Palace.

PAULO WANCHOPE
(DERBY) - 1997

Nine days after Derby had signed Wanchope, the little-known Costa Rican announced himself on his debut in style, collecting the ball deep in his own half and galloping past four Manchester United defenders before side-footing a low finish into the bottom corner in a 3-2 win at Old Trafford.

STEVEN GERRARD
(LIVERPOOL) - 1999

Gerrard did not score his first Liverpool goal until his 25th appearance, but it was worth the wait. He burst to the edge of the penalty area after receiving a pass 50 yards from goal and brilliantly stepped round two defenders before firing into the bottom corner in a 4-1 home win against Sheffield Wednesday.

WAYNE ROONEY
(EVERTON) - 2002

Rooney became the Premier League's youngest-ever goalscorer at the time, five days before his 17th birthday, when stepping off the bench to halt Arsenal's 30-game unbeaten run with a stunning last-minute 25-yard strike in Everton's 2-1 home win.

Rooney as the Premier League's youngest scorer.

Aged 16 years and 356 days, the Leeds substitute evaded two tacklers on the edge of the box and unleashed a brilliant finish inside the far post to seal his hometown club a 2-0 win against Chelsea.

NEIL MELLOR
(LIVERPOOL) - 2004

In his second Premier League start, Mellor lashed home a dipping 30-yard volley with virtually the last kick of the game in front of the Anfield Kop to snatch a 2-1 victory for Rafael Benitez's Liverpool against defending champions Arsenal.

JAMES VAUGHAN
(EVERTON) - 2005

Vaughan's predatory strike from Kevin Kilbane's cross sealed a dream debut for Everton in a 4-0 home win against Crystal Palace and made him the Premier League's youngest goalscorer at the age of 16 years, eight months and 27 days.

DANNY WELBECK
(MAN UTD) - 2008

Welbeck marked his Premier League debut for Manchester United, 11 days shy of his 18th birthday, by rifling home a curling 30-yard shot into the top corner after replacing Park Ji-sung in the second half of a 5-0 win against Stoke at Old Trafford.

DANNY ROSE
(TOTTENHAM) - 2010

The teenage left-back had an unforgettable Premier League debut after scoring a wonder goal in a 2-1 win against derby rivals Arsenal at White Hart Lane, crashing home a swerving 30-yard volley after Gunners goalkeeper Manuel Almunia had punched clear a corner.

ANTHONY MARTIAL
(MAN UTD) - 2015

Ten days after signing from Monaco for £36million to become the world's most expensive teenager, Martial scored a stunning solo effort on his debut in a 3-1 win against Liverpool, cutting inside from the left wing and beating three defenders before finishing with aplomb into the bottom corner.

LUCKY JIM RIDES IN TO SHAKE T

RATCLIFFE FACES RED FAITHFUL

Part-owner promises fans he's not in Manchester to make more money

INCOMING minority owner Sir Jim Ratcliffe has told Manchester United supporter groups he is there to help take the club back to the top rather than make money.

After a frustrating, prolonged 13-month process, it was announced on Christmas Eve that the Ineos chairman had agreed to buy a 25 per cent stake in the club from the Glazer family owners.

Ratcliffe receives control of football operations at the Premier League club under the terms of a deal that he told reporters he expects to be finally approved by mid-February.

The 71-year-old watched Sunday's 2-2 Premier League draw with Tottenham at Old Trafford, where he returned the following day to engage with fan representatives and local leaders.

Ratcliffe met members of the club's Fans' Advisory Board and leaders of the Manchester United Supporters' Trust (MUST), before holding a video meeting with the larger Fans' Forum.

Community

"His main message was that everything at United needs to be ruthlessly focused on creating winning teams on the field – something we are sure all fans will agree on," MUST said.

"He also expressed the view that he views our club as a 'community asset' and stressed that his purpose in taking a share in United is not to make money. We were able to set out to Sir Jim what we think the key priorities are.

A clear plan to get back to the top, putting in place a football structure with the right people in the right roles; an investment plan in both the teams and the stadium; and building a genuine and strong partnership with fans that supports success.

"We hope today's discussion is the start of an ongoing dialogue both with Sir Jim and his team.

"We all know the journey back for our club is not a short one – and the proof of the pudding will be in the eating.

"But most fans agree that the signals Ineos has sent in the last few weeks are encouraging."

The meeting with MUST lasted more than an hour, with Ratcliffe joined by Sir Dave Brailsford, the director of sport at Ineos, Jean Claude Blanc, Ineos Sport chief executive, and senior United officials.

Certain topics were off the table as the deal awaits approval, but MUST "felt he was as open as he could be within those rules".

The trust's chair JD Deitch posted on X, formerly known as Twitter, that it was a good meeting and that Ratcliffe's team "get it" but "proof will be action, not words".

Running

A fan representative at one of the meetings told the Midweek Sport that Ineos made it clear the immediate priority is fixing things on the field during "really positive discussions".

There was a sense that Ratcliffe's team will be "able to hit the ground running" once the deal is ratified, with player trading pinpointed by Ineos as an area requiring improvement. "I think the impression of everybody in all the meetings was it was actually amazing and unprecedented for us at Manchester United that the owner of the club spent that much time," the fan representative said.

"More fan engagement in one day than the Glazers have done in 20 years."

"That's just a fact. I'm sure it's not accidental. It's a very clear signal of a change in how the club will be and I get the sense that they are not waiting for the details of the deal to go through."

"I get the sense that the work has started already."

After speaking to fan representatives, Ratcliffe and his team met a range of local leaders to discuss United's role in the community and potential development of Old Trafford.

Among those in attendance were senior representatives from Trafford Council and Greater Manchester Combined Authority, including mayor Andy Burnham.

Meanwhile, United midfielder Hannibal Mejbri has joined LaLiga strugglers Sevilla on loan until the end of the season.

As part of the deal, Sevilla have an option to buy the 20-year-old for £20million plus a further £3m in add-ons.

United have also included a buy-back option and a sell-on fee if he departs elsewhere.

Hannibal joined United from Monaco in 2019 and has made 10 appearances this season but is expected to find his first team opportunities limited by the imminent returns of Casemiro and Mason Mount.

We should be on top says Villa skipper

ASTON Villa captain John McGinn admits it has been frustrating not to have taken opportunities to strike a real blow in the title race but he still feels the team are in a good place.

Villa could have gone level on points with Premier League leaders Liverpool with a win at Everton but left Goodison Park with a draw which keeps them in third on goal difference behind Manchester City.

"The disappointing thing for us is we have had several opportunities to get to the top of the table, whether that is on our own or joint with another team," said McGinn.

"That has been a frustration, whether it be the game against Nottingham Forest (a 2-0 defeat in November), against Sheffield United (a 1-1 draw before Christmas) and here again."

"But the league is very difficult, teams are going to take points off each other. City are obviously favourites to win it but you just never know."

"This season has been really exciting and it is just brilliant to be part of what is going to be an exciting end to it."

With Liverpool still to hit their very best form, Pep Guardiola's side looking to maintain their traditional post-Christmas push and Arsenal and Tottenham just three points behind the pressure to even stay in the top four will only increase in the coming months. It means any dropped points are going to feel more significant as the season begins to count down.

"We are going into every game with that mentality that we are going in to win," added McGinn.

"Even toward the end of the (Everton) game we were pushing. At that point they are happy with the draw but we wanted the win."

"We have that mentality now."

"We are coming here, dominating and trying to get the three points. Our mentality is right. We are in a good place."

"One thing which goes unnoticed, that a lot of people ignore, is that we've a hefty injury list. We have done throughout the whole season but we have adapted."

"We are missing some top players so for us to be in the mix it is a really exciting thing to be waiting on them to come back."

GO AWAY JOSE SAY ROMA

JOSE Mourinho has been sacked by Roma.

The former Chelsea and Manchester United boss, who led Roma to the Europa League final last season after winning the Europa Conference League the campaign before, will leave them "with immediate effect".

Roma, who have won only one of their last five Serie A matches to slip to ninth in the table, said on their official website: "AS Roma can confirm that Jose Mourinho and his coaching staff will leave the club with immediate effect."

Club owners Dan and Ryan Friedkin added: "We would like to thank Jose on behalf of all of us at AS Roma for his passion and efforts since his arrival at the club."

LAWRO FIT TO BURST!

TOM Lawrence says he's sick of being injured and wants to make his mark at Rangers this year. The 30-year-old has been frustrated by a series of setbacks and is striving for full fitness during the winter break out in Spain.

Lawrence said: "It was good to get out to Spain and get some training done. I'm just looking forward now."

"I'm back training with the team, I'm injury-free at the minute. I'm sick of talking about it, to be honest. I'm sick of being injured, I just want to get fit and hopefully, I can do that."

"It was a massive couple of months when the gaffer first arrived."

"I played my part when I was fit so I know what I need to do and I know what to expect when I can get back in."

Chelsea fancy Firmino or Benzema to save season

By JOHN ANTHONY

CHELSEA are being linked with a shock move for Roberto Firmino this month.

And they are also sniffing around Real Madrid legend Karim Benzema as they try to solve their striker crisis.

Chelsea are struggling to find someone to put the ball in the back of the net with misfiring Nicolas Jackson away at the African Nations Cup and Christopher Nkunku on the sidelines with injury.

Boss Mauricio Pochettino has been forced to build his attack about Armando Broja who has scored one goal in 13 Premier League starts for the Stamford Bridge boys.

Liverpool veteran Firmino and Benzema are both plying their trade in the Saudi Arabian league but could be targeted for sensational loan deals until the end of the season.

Firmino, 32, is earning £300,000 a week at Al-Alhi but, after scoring a hat-trick on his debut, the Brazilian hasn't scored in 18 matches.

He's been dropped from the team and lost the captaincy. Fulham want him but can't afford his wages – something that wouldn't be a problem for the moneybags next door.

Long-term, Chelsea would like to sign either Victor Osimhen from Napoli or Brentford's Ivan Toney.

But neither player will be available until the end of the season and would cost close to £100m.

Chelsea need goals now and see either of the experienced strikers as a good short-term solution.
